

Regional Manufacturing Institute Leadership Maryland Economic Alliance of Greater Baltimore

WHAT'S NEXT?

A discussion on key steps businesses need to take to secure their future.

Aris Melissaratos

Johns Hopkins Enterprise Office with

Chris Foster

Northrop Grumman Corporation

Yash Gupta

Johns Hopkins Carey Business School

Susan Ganz

Lion Brothers

Bob Caret

Towson University

Laura Gamble

Bank of America

Drew Greenblatt

Marlin Steel Wire Products & NAM Board

Jay Hancock

The Baltimore Sun

The level of economic uncertainty today, much of it hour by hour, means businesses need answers. There is no text book to guide us or no previous single experience to tell us how to proceed. What we do have is the collective knowledge and insights of leaders of business, education and government, who like you, are continuously assessing the situation.

WHAT'S NEXT?- WHEN LEADERS LEAD is a community discussion that defines the economic and business issues keeping you up at night and the steps you can take to navigate during these turbulent times.

On December 3, 2008 be part of the solution.

To survive today's economic turbulent times we need leaders to lead.

WHAT'S NEXT? - WHEN LEADERS LEAD

Dec 3, 2008

The textbook on what to do NEXT has not been written.

2: 45-4: 45 program
4: 45-5: 30 reception

No one person has the answer.

Baltimore Museum of Industry
1415 Key Highway
Inner Harbor South

Limited Seating

$45 early registration
$55 after November 28th

REGISTER

https://www.regonline.com/63360_6733060

Information and Sponsorship Opportunities

phone: Mike Galiazzo. Executive Director Regional Manufacturing Institute of Maryland 410-771-8111